FRIENDS . . .

They are a fact of life that your parents never sat down and explained to you. Instead, experience was left to be your teacher.

Friendship is usually the root of all activity at East High. For six hours a day, five days a week, it's the strongest driving force that makes the time spent here worthwhile. It's not the school we have become attached to, but the people that have become a part of our lives throughout the school years.

This 1974 Orient has been compiled in such a way so as to show how we feel friends have affected our years at East High.

They're indispensable. Like the song says:

"You gotta have friends . . ."

DEDICATION

Friends and teachers always used to be two separate nouns. But more and more, we have seen them come together into one individual; an individual with dedication and responsibility as a teacher, and with compassion and faithfulness as a friend.

On the next few pages, we'd like to show our appreciation to a few of these versatile people by dedicating this yearbook to them. These are just a handful of many individuals who have affected our years at East High. They cared, and they showed it. These are the kind of people who make high school life something more than just classes, lunch, and homework; and for this we are grateful.

Mr. Kramer — Biology

Finding a good teacher at East is an easy thing to do, but finding a teacher that has a genuine concern for the subject and the students is a bit more difficult. Anyone who has had a course with this amazing man will tell you that they giggled through it . . . a student will often be found on the edge of his chair just listening to a lecture and absorbing every word. We will always remember Mr. Kramer's clear comprehension of his students' needs and all his finer qualities that made his courses vital and exciting. We thank him for a memorable year, and wish for him many more to come.

Miss Cappellino — Language

Jean Cappellino is more than just a teacher to the students she has come in contact with. She has befriended them all, and in so doing has made the hours spent with her in study more enjoyable. She has been an inspiration and an asset to us during our years in high school. Thank you, Miss Cappellino.

Mr. Palleschi — Social Studies

Usually there are only one or two kids that have had a teacher, and therefore are able to write about him. In this case, however, everyone knew Mr. Palleschi, and everyone wanted to write about him. He is a very popular person in this school. We think it may have something to do with his consistent presence in the cafeteria. We also thank him for being an excellent history teacher and a patient, caring friend.

Mrs. Follett — Language

We know that Mrs. Follett has often wondered how far her capabilities as a teacher have extended to each of her students. But she can be assured that her personal and inspired methods of teaching are what have given her such a fine reputation at East. Her enthusiasm as instructor and as a friend has helped to keep languages alive in this school. Each year her classes grow larger to accommodate her growing number of followers. On behalf of all her students we would like to give Mrs. Follett our warmest thanks for her unselfish contributions to the student body; and to wish her many more years of success and good luck that she has achieved in her years at East High.

Mr. MacCracken — Industrial Arts

Mr. MacCracken is a teacher very skilled in his field. His students know that they are lucky to share in his talents. Aside from his teaching schedule, he has given of his time to print special material for school functions; for instance, Thespian tickets, Mosaic material, Homeroom notices, display signs and school calendars. We thank him for doing more than his share; his unselfishness is the true root of all friendships.

Mr. Morrow — Math

Mr. Morrow, in addition to being a dedicated teacher, has those special qualities found only in a friend. Patience is a very important asset for a friend, and especially a teacher of math. When those equations start racing through your head at top speed it's nice to have a teacher like Mr. Morrow to slow things down to a comprehensible level. High school kids need a teacher that can understand their point of view. Mr. Morrow's teaching is built on this kind of understanding.

Mrs. Slattery — Science

Jean Slattery is an asset to our educational system. She is not only a good chemistry teacher. She also acts as counselor and friend to many. Due to her concern for everyone, she is a person with few prejudices. Mrs. Slattery is involved in many extracurricular activities because she is so generous with her time. Those students fortunate enough to come in contact with her will always treasure the time spent with her.

Each individual always feels differently upon completing his last year at East High. But as a class that has lived through all the trials of high school, we have come to realize the tremendous value of this section of our lives. We have also seen that our accomplishments would have been few without the unending aid of all our friends, and for this we thank them all.

The East High Senior is the most unique, most wonderful, most amazing creature you can find anywhere in the entire Western Hemisphere (just ask one!). A yearbook could never give the full character of this rare breed: this page attempts to show this special being in his or her natural habitat.

Underclassmen make up the majority of the school. They are active participants in every school activity — including senior privileges. Without them, East High would be nothing. As seniors see underclassmen studying, competing, or just horsing around, they remember what their own underclass years were like.

... AND NEXT YEAR, SOME OF
THE UNDERCLASSMEN WILL BE SENIORS

A YEAR OF ACTIVITY

Some people say that the spirit of East High exists only in its sports. This year's activities have proven differently. Some clubs, like the Ski Club, Chem Club, and French Club, have always been large; they've accumulated a lot of good memories, so they grow more popular every year. But it's encouraging to see that most of the other clubs are also growing in number. The kids know what they want, and the success of East High's activities has reflected this. This year has included a rousing debate between Brenda Fraser and Frank Ciaccia (sponsored by the History Forum), Sucker Day, Chess Club Tournaments, Math League Contests, a Metric Week, the traditional Chem Club Christmas Program, a trip to Spain by Spanish Club members, and many, many others. Now that's spirit!

The Senior Class Council is one of the most important groups in the school. After all, the senior year is the last and best year, with a lot of big events; like the Senior Banquet, the Senior Ball, Graduation, and numerous traditional fund-raising affairs. All this requires diligent preparation and planning, and this year's Council followed both, to make this Senior year as successful as ever.

The Senior French Club, always anxious to make and spend money, worked this year to do a good deal of both. There were the usual bake sales and even a raffle for a night out on the town! Under the direction of Mrs. Follett, the club has prospered in ideas, including a spring trip to Montreal.

Mindy Kosoff and Amy Thompson mark Charly's unhappy homecoming.

The cast takes one more much-deserved curtain call.

Mr. Martin May directed the Thespians in a sensitive presentation of "Flowers for Algernon." The cast included Jon Berkner, Jennifer Croson, Mindy Kosoff, Joe Laudisi, Nick Dunn, Kent Brown and Brent Proudman. Few students who viewed the play will forget Jon Berkner's portrayal of Charly.

With capable direction and the abundance of native talent, East High theater fans can expect many excellent future dramas.

The 1973 edition of the Oriental football team presented a welcome change from past squads. East teams in past years have been known for their strong defense. This team combined a hungry defense led by the Shellman brothers with a high powered offense featuring all-scholastics Bob Marsh, Mitch Jones and Marv Jones.

Marsh led the City-Catholic league in passing and rolled up school records in the process. His favorite receivers, Marvin and Mitch Jones scored almost at will. Marvin's all around strength resulted in his being named to the county-wide all star team.

Sal Rizzo had the kind of problem any coach would welcome: too much talent. Four returning starters from last year's once-beaten Section V champs made the Orientals a cinch to repeat as City-Catholic and section champions.

This year's edition of the team was marked by continued strong play by Mitch Jones and Jerry Hunter with added help from Marvin Jones and Ricky Gamble. Through consistent solid play, Gamble emerged as a star-caliber performer.

SECTIONAL CHAMPS ... AGAIN!

Everyone expected East to win the Section V championship again this year; it was no surprise when the Oriental demolished four straight opponents to re-claim the title. Mitchell Jones averaged over 25 points per game and picked up the MVP award for the second straight year.

Coach Rizzo calmly directs another victory.

Jerry Hunter's solid play led to victories over Franklin and McQuaid.

Possibly the biggest surprise of the tournament was that the Oriental fans finally showed up to cheer the champions on.

East dominated the tournament all-star team almost as much as the tournament itself. Mitch, Jerry Hunter, and the ebullient Ricky Gamble were honored. Marvin Jones deserved to be included in the all-tourney team, but was overlooked.

Cheering for the Marshall victory.

... we still can't hear you ...

JV CHEERLEADERS

The JV Cheerleaders proved to be a good complement to the varsity corps. In addition to helping out at varsity games, the JVs led the support of East's fine JV teams.

C. Wood, T. Greene, E. Stabins, K. Loughlin, C. Forbes, D. Bunch, D. Tornabene, C. McClain, B. Marsh, C. Hoffberg.

It's not that bad, Cheryl!

Mrs. Marsh, JV Cheerleader adviser, directs Ellen Stabins in a leap.

Unfortunately, the JVs often play — and are cheered by almost empty stands.

"I'm sorry Becky, but I don't think 'Tear out their spines!' is an appropriate cheer."

Announcing A Brand-new 2-year Enlistment Idea.

If 3 or 4 years in the service is more than you can afford to give right now, consider the Army's new 2-year enlistment idea.

It's an idea with a choice. You can choose job-training from a wide range of job-training courses. And if you qualify, we'll guarantee that training in writing before you enlist.

Or you can choose to serve with us in Europe. Either way, you get the same total benefits package as with a longer enlistment.

Including a new starting salary of $326.10 a month, with a raise to $363.30 in just four months.

Why not not talk it over with your local Army Representative? He's listed in the Yellow Pages under "Recruiting." Or give us a call at 800-243-6000, toll free. In Connecticut, 1-800-882-6500.

THE COMFORT OF HAVING A FRIEND
MAY BE TAKEN AWAY,
BUT NOT THE MEMORY.

It's been an extraordinary year for
me. Getting to know you was a hard thing to do because of the rough start you have. But with a big hard fight, I made through it and found a very understanding living person with one defect
a smart mouth. Take care of yourself and remember me
as a close and caring friend.

Love, L. Edwards

this year,
as you probably know, has been a very trying year with you are concerned. We've gone through so many non-speaking periods that it is just utterly pathetic. Now that those days are over I hope we can stay friends for ever. Keep the faith.
Oh! another thing you better learn control that smart tongue. (smile)

I think you're a real sweet guy
with a nice personality
and a nice way of being a good ~~guy~~ guy since I won't see you next year good luck
in the future I wish you

Peace & Happiness

Pauline "75"

P.S. I hope we are still good friends.
